South Miami Beach

Overlooking Biscayne Bay on highly exclusive Hibiscus Island, the Villa Athena has the atmosphere of a private resort. The main house, guest house, boat house and cabana are all set, like micro islands, within tiered pools connected by walkways. Athena is a fantasia of Greek architecture and like an ode to Mykonos, the sails of a 50 foot windmill radiate out to shade the main house, terrace and swimming pool. Warm sun filters in through tall, narrow, windows, creating shafts of light on marble and mosaic floors.

The overall theme is typical of Cyclades villas-domed roofs, large open arches, whitewashed paintwork, wood beamed ceilings and stone floors. Rustic, wood-framed furniture with bright cushions contrasts against curved built-in sofas. Simple but sophisticated, every modern comfort is built in to an extraordinary vision. The main house has a master suite, lounge, dining room and kitchen as well as numerous dining alcoves, bar areas and terraces. The guest house has three bedrooms, an office, a gymnasium and movie theatre. Staying at Villa Athena is like having your own private Greek village.

the lush gardens, which contain coconut trees, royal palms, tropical fruit trees, bougainvillea, jasmine, frangipangi, and local grasses.

An architectural highlight is the two dramatic infinity pools that continuously cascade into each other and appear to merge seamlessly into the sea. The large pool is 170' x 24', the small pool is 24' x 15' and the view across the Caribbean from over 3,500 sq ft of open deck is endless.

New Zealand

New Zealand is 1,600 km long and 450 km wide at its widest part. Covering an area of approximately 270,500 sq km (all islands combined) it is roughly the size of Japan, the British Isles or California - large enough to contain a huge variety of scenic attractions, and small enough so you can get to see most of them.

If you'd like to travel New Zealand by road, but prefer to do so without having to take the wheel yourself, then with a privately guided tour you can sit back and relax. We offer luxury vehicles which are driven by one of our friendly and knowledgeable driver/guides. Enjoy as much or as little commentary as you desire and relish the privilege of stopping to see those special places en-route. Your driver/guide is there to do the driving and answer your questions about the passing landscape. And at any point, you can stop to take pictures, shop for souvenirs or linger over a restaurant lunch.

New Zealand also has a range of private jet charter and helicopter companies for your transport around New Zealand - companies that we have been working with for a long time. Private jets operate into all of the regional airports around New Zealand and with spectacular helicopter flights and excursions you can land just about anywhere!

We plan each and every private tour to suit your specific requirements. Based on your preferences we work together with you to design a personalised itinerary in which you choose how you want to spend your time and exactly which activities you'd like to partake in.

Necker Island, BVI

Surrounded by the sparkling blue Caribbean sea of the British Virgin Islands, Necker Island exudes the elegance and lifestyle of the rich and famous. You can "rent" the whole island for yourself and your guests for a tropical vacation, staying in the cliff-side villas with your own pool and never-ending views to the sea.

Virgin Atlantic owner Sir Richard Branson purchased this previously uninhabited island between Tortola and Anegada in the '70s. He has slowly developed several residences in addition to the main house, an airy Balinese Villa. A favourite with royalty, rock stars, and movie stars, Necker Island is the ultimate private tropical vacation getaway in the Caribbean.

The staff outnumber the guests here, providing first class service and catering to your every whim. Enjoy a tropical vacation drink in the indoor garden, or on one of the terraces overlooking the British Virgin Islands only a few minutes away by helicopter or boat. Meals are as informal or formal as you desire, and at the pace, time and location of your choosing. Your staff can prepare a light lobster lunch with fresh fruit served in the shade of the pagoda, at the beach pool's floating dining pavilion, or a more formal affair in the 26-seat dining room with silver, lace, linen and crystal place settings. Pamper yourself and absorb the enchanting feel of Necker Island.
